

Pre-School Remote Learning Autumn 2020

Here are two activities for each of the 7 areas of learning to try at home.

Please send any activities you try to Miss Petty who will keep in touch with you via See Saw!

Personal, Social and Emotional Development

Pull a face

Using a mirror can they pull different faces.

Support them by showing different facial expressions such as happy, sad.

Play and share

Learning to share is very hard for a child to learn.

By playing with your child and encouraging them to take turns can help them to learn how to play with others.

Communication and Language

Singing

Singing is a great way for your child to begin to communicate.

They may have some favourite rhymes and be able to copy the actions.

What's missing

This is a great game to help children with their memory and language skills.

Start off by hiding some of their favourite objects under a blanket.

Take one away and see if they notice it is missing. If they are able to understand ask them what object is missing.

Physical Development

Be independent

Being independent is a great skill to learn.

Can your child put their own coat on or help to get dressed in the morning?
Shoes with Velcro is another great skill for your child to learn.

Food tasting

Try different textures and tastes.

Can they help you to make a sandwich?

Mathematics

Get counting

Can you count in order?

What about trying to count objects?

Here is a link for some great counting rhymes to help.

Matching Game

When your tidying up can you match all of one object together? E.g. all the spoons, all the teddy bears

Literacy

Reading and more reading

Sharing books is a great way for children to learn how to talk and to find out about different experiences.

If you don't have a lot of different books. This website is free and has a wide selection to look at online for free.

Practice your pencil grip

Drawing is a great way to strengthen the muscle in a child's hand they need for writing.

Get creative draw using chalks, crayons, pencils.

Understanding the World

Go exploring

What can you see?

Talk to your child about their surroundings. Maybe you could collect some leaves to make a picture with

Role play

Helping your child to role play and pretend to make cups of tea or dinner will help them understand how things happen around them.

Expressive Arts and Design

Messy play

The possibilities are endless. You can make handprints.

Have spaghetti play (you could even use some food colouring to change to colour)

Allow them to use their senses to explore the world around them

Express yourself

Can you move your body in different ways?

What dance moves can you make your favourite music?
